Today's Devotion – My House is Your House

Shannon sat in her women's group meeting, listening to the week's announcements. Near the end the speaker paused, "We also have a special request this week. As many of you know, Cammie is moving so we can no longer hold the tween's meetings at her house. I'm hopeful that someone will volunteer a space for Thursday nights."

Shannon thought of her tiny living room. Cammie had a spacious home out in the country. Of course, she could easily share her living space once a week.

"My home is teeny, God," she prayed, "I'm not sure what good it will do to volunteer."

As the meeting finished, Shannon thought again about the need for a girl's night. Then she remembered the story of the child with five loaves and two fish. She took a deep breath and hurried up to the group leader, "It's not much but I'm willing to share my living room once a week."

Discipleship isn't just about how much you have or how big your home is. It's about sharing the resources God has entrusted to you.

That might look like sharing your tiny living room with a group of hungry pre-teens or it might mean welcoming the neighborhood kids into your backyard. It's not about what you have—it's about what God can do with it!

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Reminders of God's Faithfulness

After Greg realized his teenage daughter made an error in her bank account and had to pay hefty fees, he sat her down at their kitchen table one evening.

He opened up his budgeting software and began explaining how he managed the family's income.

"I plan for the various expenses that keep our household running," He explained, "You can see here that I budget money for groceries, the electricity, and car insurance.

Some of these expenses you have to estimate, especially when you're getting use to budgeting."

When there was a knock at the door, Greg left his daughter to look over the family budget.

He came back to table a few minutes later to find her frowning. "Dad, what does this expense mean? It says in remembrance."

"That's money we share with others in need. Your mom and I do that because when you were two days old, I lost my job.

It took six months before I was hired again but God provided for our little family. Now, we bless other families because of God's faithfulness to us."

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Let Down the Nets

Peter is tired from a long night of toiling. He's spent the past twelve hours trying to fish.

As he watches the sun rise, he thinks about the pile of bills on his kitchen table. His son needs new shoes. His wife needs to see the doctor.

There's just not enough to go around.

He's failed to provide for them. Again.

Then Jesus appears on the scene. Peter's heard of the Carpenter from Nazareth, His miracles and His healing. The Carpenter tells him to let down the nets once more.

Simon answered, "Master, we've worked hard all night and haven't caught anything. But because you say so, I will let down the nets." (Luke 5:5)

The results made Simon's eyes bug out. The nets filled to overflowing. He caught so many fish that he had to yell for others to come help him with the haul. He's amazed and overwhelmed.

Are you standing where Peter was? Have you tried again and again to accomplish something in your own strength?

Maybe you've been determined to repair the crack in your marriage or overcome an addiction. But no matter what you do, you just can't seem to get it together.

In the face of hopelessness and despair, Jesus is whispering over you the same thing He said to Peter, "Try one more time."

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Embracing Community to Lead

The nation of Israel was experiencing an incredible time of prosperity. God's chosen people were in the land He had prepared for them and they were multiplying rapidly.

As the chosen king, Solomon's job was to run the entire country. He was responsible for everything and everyone. But rather than trying to do it on his own, Solomon selected governors.

Each governor was entrusted with big responsibilities including gathering provisions for Solomon and the royal household.

Because he had people in place that he could trust, Solomon was able to focus on his own duties.

There's a dangerous myth about leadership that suggests effective leaders are "lone wolf" types who do everything themselves.

"God gave Solomon wisdom and very great insight, and a breadth of understanding as measureless as the sand on the seashore." (1 Kings 4:29)

But Solomon was wise enough to reject this belief. Instead, he built a community around himself so he could lead the people effectively.

Are there areas in your life that could benefit from community? Are there responsibilities you need to be sharing with others?

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Faith through the Storm

Normally, the rocking rhythm of a boat on the water would put Peter right to sleep. A fisherman before he gave it all up to follow Jesus, he was use to rough nights on the water.

But there was something different about this storm. There was an eerie feeling in his gut that Peter just couldn't shake. He glanced around to see the other disciples talking among themselves.

Through the driving rain, Peter began to wonder where Jesus was. When he'd looked everywhere, Peter went below deck and was astounded at what he saw.

There was his Jesus, sleeping as peacefully as a baby! Didn't He see what was happening?!

He wastes no time, grabbing onto Jesus' shoulder. He shakes him forcefully. "We're about to drown here!" His urgency is unmistakable.

Jesus immediately rises and calms the storm. "Where is your faith?" he asks in the sudden silence.

When we encounter storms in life—like a serious diagnosis, the death of a friend, or the abandonment of a loved one—it can feel like we're going to drown. The pain is threatening to take us under and we doubt we'll survive that rip tide.

It's in these moments that we're tempted to doubt and say, "Are you asleep at the wheel, Jesus?"

But just as Jesus proved He was in control of the wind and waves that night, He's in control of your storm, too. The pain won't last forever and the skies will clear again. God is holding onto you today, beloved.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – A Double Portion

“Let me inherit a double portion of your spirit,” Elisha replied. – 2 Kings 2:9

“My summer internship fell through,” the younger woman said, her eyes focused on the floor. “I know it’s short notice but do you have a place for me?”

Annette studied the college freshmen before her. She didn’t feel like she had time to take on anything else. As the ministry leader at the mega church, training the younger woman would take hours of her time.

She was tempted to say ‘no’. The girl didn’t look like she’d put up much of a fight if she were rejected. Take her in, a voice in Annette’s spirit urged.

“Where will I find time?”

She is precious to me, the spirit urged again. Annette gave Leslie her best smile, “I’ll give you a trial internship. If we work well together, you can stay on through the rest of the summer.”

From that day forward, Leslie closely shadowed Annette. Every summer, she’d come home from college to work at the church. When she graduated, she was offered a position as Annette’s personal assistant.

As years passed, Annette’s health worsened and she knew she would need to step down. But when she looked at Leslie, she knew God had already prepared the woman who would become her replacement.

“God let your first internship fall apart because He knew you’d be needed here,” Annette said. “Now, what kindness can I show you?”

Leslie smiled, “The only thing I want is a double portion of your spirit.”

Today's Devotion – Farming Your Seeds

In Mark 4, Jesus shares the parable of the farmer. The farmer went out with his seeds and planted them. Some of the seeds were eaten by the birds.

Some of the seeds didn't have enough soil and never took root.

Still, there were some seeds that fell in a good place. These seeds did make roots and became towering plants that yielded abundant harvests.

In many ways, each Christian is a farmer. Your seeds are the Gospel of Christ. You plant those seeds by doing acts of kindness for others, loving them, and forgiving them when they've wronged you.

But it's important to understand that the farmer can't assume responsibility for everything. All you can do is plant those seeds.

Some of them may never take root. Some may be taken away before they can make a difference.

However, there will be some seeds that fall to the good ground and take deep root.

The result is changed lives as more people discover the amazing love of Jesus.

Spread the word but don't feel overwhelming pressure like it's all on you. Your job is merely to plant seeds. Let God handle the rest!

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Chosen

Melissa's mother had gotten pregnant out of wedlock. In her era, when a woman was pregnant, she married the baby's father.

Sadly, Melissa grew up knowing she was unwanted. Although her father never said it, she felt his rejection again and again.

He didn't show up to her dance recitals, her soccer games, or even her high school graduation.

When Melissa was in college, she volunteered to help a local organization that took meals to elderly residents and shut-ins.

They would also sometimes do basic tasks and errands that the disabled couldn't do.

The owner of the organization was Gracie, a kind, plump woman in her fifties. She loved Jesus and frequently talked about her faith.

Melissa had grown up in church and she was saved. But she didn't understand much of the Bible or how it applied to her day-to-day life.

When she shared about her father's rejection, Gracie gave her a warm smile, "Your earthly father may have rejected you but you were chosen by God.

He loves you deeply and wants to be the Father you never had."

Today's Devotion – What Discipleship Means

Jesus has just finished predicting his death again.

He's gone into detail with His disciples about the awful things that are about to come to pass. He's warned them, done his best to prepare them.

After he's done talking, James and John pull Jesus aside quietly. They make a request to be front and center next to Jesus when His glory comes.

Their request is proof these two disciples missed the message entirely. They want power. They want glory. They want prestige.

Can you relate? When someone is unjust to you, do you shake your fist with rage and wish you were powerful enough to stand up to that bully?

When you get overlooked, do you long to be the smartest or most beautiful person in the room?

The truth is we've all had those moments. But as Jesus explained, His Kingdom was upside down.

In it, discipleship is really another word for denial of self. It's becoming less so that God can shine even brighter.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Are You People Driven?

It's noon and the sun is high in the sky. Jesus has been on His feet for hours already and He's tired. He plops down the well and waits.

A few minutes later, a Samaritan woman appears. Jesus asks her for a drink and she's shocked. She's use to most Jews looking down on her. When she confesses that she doesn't have a husband, she waits again for rejection.

But it never comes. There's only grace.

As they continue to talk, she says, "I know the Messiah is coming." Then Jesus declared, "I, the one speaking to you—I am he." (John 4:26) Of all the people He could have revealed His true identity to, Jesus chose a lowly Samaritan woman. Of all the tasks that Jesus could have been doing, He made time for a conversation with a lonely woman.

It's right and good to accomplish a task when God commands it. But in today's world, it's easy to become task driven. You're so focused on checking the next item off your to-do list that you miss people. They become numbers, figures on a spreadsheet.

Being a disciple of Christ means that sometimes we have to put down the to-do list and serve those in front of us.

Maybe that means pausing your grocery shopping long enough to offer help to someone in a wheelchair. Perhaps that looks like taking a homemade meal to a sick friend. It could also mean listening to your pre-teen share her latest drama, even though there's a stack of dishes waiting in the sink.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Stepping Out in Faith

Deidre and her husband, James, had spent months praying to show them how to be disciples to Jesus. As time went on, it became clear that God was calling the couple to welcome in foster children.

They were both nervous. They already had two children of their own and they worried about changing their family dynamic.

Although they had some money, they were still paying off school loans and they wondered how they would provide for additional children.

But neither could shake the conviction that God wanted them to become foster parents. Not long after they were approved, Deidre received a call from a caseworker.

She had three children that needed to be placed in a home immediately. Their previous living conditions had been so terrible that the kids weren't able to bring anything. They only had the clothes on their backs.

So, Deidre and James put out a call to their community. They wanted a few hand-me down outfits and extra bedding. But they were overwhelmed with what happened next.

Their town rallied around the foster kids—donating furniture, clothes, gift cards, toys, and more. They received so much that they weren't able to take it all in. When James came home from work and saw the supplies, he laughed, "Where God led us, He has provided."

Today's Devotion – You Are Seen

The day was hot and muggy. Nathanael was lounging under a fig tree, waiting for his brother. They'd taken a rare day off and had plans to go fishing together this afternoon.

But when his brother appeared over him, Nathanael noticed he didn't have his fishing rod or his bait. Curious, he sat up as his brother doubled over, panting from the midday jog across the orchard.

"I've found Him!" Philip said triumphantly as soon as he could speak. Nathanael frowned, pushing his glasses up on his nose, "Found who?" "The Messiah! The One we've been searching for! He's from Nazareth!"

Nathanael snorts out this suggestion, "Nothing good comes out of Nazareth." "Then come and see for yourself," Philip urges.

When Jesus saw Nathanael approaching, he said of him, "Here truly is an Israelite in whom there is no deceit." (John 1:47)

Now, Nathanael is more curious than skeptical. "How did you know who I am?" Jesus answered, "I saw you while you were still under the fig tree before Philip called you." (John 1:48)

Just as Jesus saw His disciple under the fig tree, He also sees you. He knows your personality, your past, your hurts, your hunger, and your needs. He knows you completely, inside and out.

Nothing is hidden from Jesus' perfect vision. Just like He welcomed Nathanael into His circle of disciples, Jesus invites you, too.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Breaking Bread Together

When Jennifer was growing up, there was a new face at dinner almost every night.

It was such a common practice in her house that the meals when it was just her and her parents stand out in her mind.

As a teenager, this habit embarrassed Jennifer. “My mom was the type of person who could strike up a conversation with the person in line behind her at the grocery store and two minutes later, they’d be chatting like they’d been friends for years!”

She asked her mom once about the strangers at the table. “Mom told me that’s what Jesus did.

That He was always inviting others to break bread with Him so she figured that welcoming people to share a meal was the Gospel thing to do.”

When Jennifer heard that her mother had a heart attack, she rushed to her bedside.

“The doctor said it was a minor heart attack and that she’d make a full recovery. But we received dozens and dozens of casseroles, gifts, and help during that time. I never realized my mom’s impact until I saw how many people were eager to help her.”

Today's Devotion – Embracing the Present

While Mary sat, Martha stewed. She marched around the kitchen, gathering the ingredients for the lavish feast she was preparing.

She muttered under her breath. How was it that no one could see what was happening? She was being overlooked. It just wasn't fair!

So, Martha gathered all of her self-righteous anger and stormed over to where Jesus was reclining in her plush La-Z-Boy®, “Jesus, tell my sister to come help!

It's not right that all of the work should fall on my shoulders.”

The look Jesus sent her way was filled with compassion, “Martha, Martha,” He chided softly. “Mary has chosen what is better, and it will not be taken away from her.” (Luke 10:42)

Martha was doing a good thing, but she was doing it for the wrong reasons.

She wanted to create the perfect dinner. Her sister, Mary, chose to embrace the presence of Jesus, rather the perfection of a party.

Can you relate? Have you ever prioritized your to-do list instead of soaking in the presence of Jesus?

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Two by Two

During His ministry, Jesus sent out His disciples to preach to the surrounding towns.

He explained that He wanted them to take nothing but a staff and the shoes on their feet. Everything else would be provided along the way.

But that's not the only interesting thing about how Jesus commanded them to go. He also wanted them to travel and preach in groups of two.

It's mentioned in the text that Jesus gave the disciples power over impure or demonic spirits as well as the supernatural ability to heal the sick (Luke 9:1). But for all the power He gave, He still wanted them to minister together.

There are many reasons Jesus may have done this. Perhaps because He knew that when one became discouraged, the other could lift his spirits.

Maybe He didn't want his disciples becoming lonely. Another reason may have simply been that Jesus knows ministry is more fun when you have community around you.

You don't have to go it alone any more than the disciples did. If you're feeling weary in your ministry, ask God to send a friend to help you. You might just be surprised by how God answers your request!

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Faithfully Waiting

As Jesus was ascending into Heaven, He told His disciples that soon the Holy Spirit would come into their lives. So, Peter and the other disciples returned to where they'd been staying.

“They all joined together constantly in prayer, along with the women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brothers.” (Acts 1:14)

Of all the things the disciples could have done, they waited. They gathered in faith, uncertain of when exactly Jesus would send the Holy Spirit.

Sometimes, God promises His children something but He doesn't deliver it right away. During these moments, it's easy to fall away from God. It's tempting to think, “If You don't do this on my schedule, then I'm done. I'm out.”

But that attitude is harmful.

God, in His love, desires to give you only the very best. He has a purpose for His timing. In the disciples' case, it may have been that He wanted them to grow closer together during their wait or that He desired to have them know Him on a deeper level.

When God asks you to wait, will you be faithful like the disciples? Will you continue to seek Him even if He doesn't give you what you want?

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – When Friends Betray You

Walter was a well-known mechanic in his town. When he started his own auto business, he hired several other people to work with him.

One of these people was Todd, a young man that seemed lost and lacking direction.

Over the next two years, Walter mentored Todd. He taught him how to change tires, install radiators, and fix worn out brakes. He invited Todd into his home, welcoming him to his dinner table. He even considered the younger man the son he'd never had.

Then came the day Walter discovered his business accounts had been emptied and Todd had left town.

Walter was upset about the financial loss but even more that, he grieved for the close relationship he'd lost.

Betrayal is inevitable. At some point, you will be sold out. It might be a friend who gossiped about your marriage troubles.

It might be the spouse who cheated on you. It could be the co-worker who took your project and didn't share any credit.

You're not alone. Jesus knows what that betrayal feels because He's stood in your shoes and unlike others, Jesus won't abandon you in your time of need.

Today's Devotion – Ordinary People

Peter and John were headed into the local temple (church) one day when they saw a lame man calling out to those passing by. In the name of Jesus, the two disciples healed the man.

For their actions, they're called in front of the religious counsel. They spend the night in jail before being dragged to a large meeting filled with rulers and teachers.

When they ask for an explanation, the Holy Spirit makes Peter bold. "If we are being called to account today for an act of kindness shown to a man who was lame and are being asked how he was healed, then know this, you and all the people of Israel: It is by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified but whom God raised from the dead, that this man stands before you healed." (Act 4:9-10)

It's after this speech that the rulers realize the two men have spent time with Jesus.

Even though Peter and John weren't learned scholars, their experiences with Jesus had equipped them to do His work.

You may not come from the "right" family. You may not have the best education. You may not be extraordinary. But God can still use you, just like He did with Peter and John!

Today's Devotion – The Back of the Boat

Peter had just started to drift to sleep when one of the disciples nudged his shoulder. “Look at it! I think it’s a ghost, walking right on top the water! What do you think, Peter?”

Before Peter can make a guess, the figure calls out to them. It’s Peter’s Jesus. Eager to be with his friend, Peter asks Jesus to give him permission to walk on the water, too.

Jesus replies with one simple word, “Come.”

In this story of Peter and the waves, most people focus on Peter or Jesus. They’re the central characters.

But did you ever stop to wonder about the other disciples? The ones still in the back of the boat? What did they do when Peter stepped out in faith? Did they encourage or ridicule him? Did they cheer or say, “Don’t get your hopes up”?

It can be hard when we see someone else stepping out in faith. A friend’s finances just aligned so that she can start the side business she’s always dreamed of.

A co-worker gets pregnant even though you’ve been trying for months. A relative gets the opportunity to travel the world this year while you’re stuck on bedrest.

These situations can be upsetting when you’re the one sitting in the back of the boat. But it’s important that you take the time to cheer each “Peter” along. Anytime, someone steps out in faith, you can choose to celebrate with them.

That doesn’t mean that you don’t hurt or that you don’t grieve. It simply means that you’re choosing to trust God in the middle of your own stormy seas.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Celebrating Children

Charlie spent years as a stay-at-home dad. He loved getting to spend every day with his daughters. He enjoyed taking care of them and teaching them.

But some people in Charlie's community looked down on him for this. They said that he should be busy providing for his family instead of raising strong daughters.

Troubled, Charlie sought advice from an elderly friend. His friend shared Luke 18:15-17 with him.

If you're not familiar with that passage, it was another busy day in ministry. People were swarming Jesus and His disciples were attempting to make sense of the chaos.

Maybe that's why the disciples wanted to send away the little children. They even went so far as to rebuke the parents who brought them (Luke 18:15).

But while they were busy doing that, they totally missed Jesus' heart for little ones.

Jesus made time for the children, welcoming them to come to Him. He didn't mind listening to the coos of a baby or kissing a "boo boo" on the knee of an eager tomboy. He celebrated children and loved on them.

Then he was let go of without warning. The dealership owner was having financial problems and couldn't afford to keep paying Michael's salary.

Even after Michael got another job, he was still curious. "I loved working for that company and I couldn't understand why God let me work there if

He didn't intend for me to stay."

Then one evening when Michael came home from his new job, there was a letter in his mailbox. It was from Denise one of the women he'd mentored in his short time as manager.

"She explained that she was a single mom and living on government assistance when I hired her.

She was so grateful that I'd given her a chance to better her life and her family.

She told me she prays for me every day. As soon as I read that, I understood.

When Mary was growing up, her mother insisted that she write one handwritten note a week.

“It could be a letter to a friend, a thank-you card to a grandparent, or even just a scribbled missing-you note in my dad’s lunchbox.”

The habit stuck with her in her adult years and she still writes dozens of notes each year.

But as time has passed, Mary’s lost track of all the notes she’s written and the words she shared.

Recently, Mary reconnected with a high school classmate on Facebook.

The other woman sent her an instant message, thanking her for the note she had received. “You may not remember it,” her friend typed.

“But your words really helped me. On the anniversary of the day my dad died, you slipped a beautiful card into my locker.

Today's Devotion – Angel in Disguise

Cynthia's son was just four when he was diagnosed with cancer. Overnight, Cynthia's world changed. She spent her time taking him to the doctor, fighting the insurance company, and comforting her child.

While she cared for her son, her next door neighbor, Jackie helped out. She took the family meals, cleaned their home, and babysat Cynthia's other children.

When the family van broke down, Jackie loaned out her Sedan without a second thought.

Now, Cynthia's son is in remission. He's a happy sixth grader who loves soccer. "When I think back to that time, I always remember Jackie. She was a true disciple. The moment I brought a need to her, she found a way to meet it."

When a friend's child is in the hospital, it can be hard to know what to do. You want to help but you don't want to add to the burden of stress the family's already dealing with.

Here are a few ideas of what you can do:

- Do check-in regularly. Knowing that someone cares is priceless.
- Do track important dates. If the child has an upcoming medical procedure, mark your calendar so you know when to show up.
- Do listen when they need support. Some parents may need to vent or cry. Reassure them that you're there and you care.
- Do look out for the other kids. Young children may not understand why their brother or sister is getting all the attention. Even something simple like a stuffed animal or special dessert can comfort a scared sibling.

Today's Devotion – Disciples as Servants

During the Passover meal, Jesus paused to wash his disciples' feet. This action might seem odd to those of us who live in the Western culture.

But to those living in Biblical times, the act is significant. Many people in Jesus' day wore sandals while others may have walked barefoot. Given that these areas are prone to dust and sand, a traveler's feet could become very dirty in the course of a day.

Hosts who welcomed in relatives and other guests would often provide a foot cleansing. Some hosts would offer a bowl of water while others might instruct a servant to do this chore.

By doing it Himself, Jesus sent a message that His disciples were to be humble. That means thinking no task is "beneath" them or that they are worthy of some great honor. Instead, every true disciple of Jesus is to be servant-minded and always ready to care for others.

Are you sometimes tempted to think a certain task or chore is beneath you? Maybe you think you shouldn't have to load the dishwasher or clean the bathroom. Perhaps you believe you shouldn't be the one to finish that report at work or pick up litter from the street.

Rather than think this way, embrace a servant mindset. Don't merely do what's required of you—go the extra mile! Let your faith be seen in this: that you are willing to do any task no matter how seemingly trivial.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – The Great Commission

Brian and his wife bought their first home together last year. He was excited about the tiny house even though it needed a long list of repairs before they could live in it. So, he began making a list of everything to be done.

From the carpet that had to be replaced to the locks that had to be changed, Brian was careful to note every detail. Then he called his friend, Toby, who was a handyman and had previously worked in construction.

Brian expected that he'd give the list to his friend and simply pay him when the work was completed.

But rather than accept payment from his friend or do the work, Toby took time to teach Brian how to handle the repairs.

He taught him how to install kitchen cabinets, fix an electrical socket, and set up an alarm system. By the end of the project, Brian had a lot more knowledge about his house and felt equipped to handle future repairs.

What Toby did for Brian is what Jesus wanted His disciples to do. He wants you to take others under your wing and mentor them in faith.

Then when they encounter problems later, they'll know what to do because they had a faithful disciple to guide them.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Then Jesus came to them and said, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age." – Matthew 28:18-20

Today's Devotion – Preparing Apollos

Aquila and Priscilla were a husband and wife team who believed in Jesus. They were tentmakers by profession and good friends with the apostle Paul. They had followed him to Ephesus, where they heard of Apollos.

According to the Bible, Apollos was well-educated and he knew the Scriptures. He was always a passionate speaker in the local synagogue (church). But some of Apollos theology wasn't correct.

When Aquila and Priscilla saw that Apollos did not fully understand the Gospel story, they welcomed him close. They invited him into their home and they explained the Scriptures so his message would be accurate and true.

The result of this discipleship is that Apollos would eventually go on to have tremendous Kingdom impact in Achaia.

“When he arrived, he was a great help to those who by grace had believed. For he vigorously refuted his Jewish opponents in public debate, proving from the Scriptures that Jesus was the Messiah.” (Acts 18:27-28)

When you see a Christian who does not fully understand God's Word, it's important that you humbly correct them. By doing so, you may be preparing the next Apollos.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – A Loving Mentor

Melody and her husband had only been married a few months when he lost his job. They couldn't afford their apartment rent from the money she made as a waitress. So, Melody moved into her in-laws' basement.

This further strained her already tense relationship with her in-laws. No matter what she did, Melody felt like she couldn't do anything right. Her in-laws made decisions for her and treated her like a child.

Finally, the frustration got to Melody. On her break in the employee lounge of the restaurant, she started looking up divorce attorneys. As she debated on dialing the number, Edith, who was the newest employee, came into the lounge.

The older woman asked to sit at Melody's table. The two of them began talking and discovered they liked some of the same activities. When Edith asked Melody about her relationships, Melody blurted out the whole story.

Edith asked to pray for Melody and encouraged her to stand strong. Over the coming months when Melody had a marital problem, she sought out Edith. The older woman was faithful to offer her grace and kindness. Years later, Melody's thankful she listened to Edith. "My husband and I have both grown a lot. We have two beautiful daughters and our marriage is good. It took a while to get to this place. It was Edith's encouragement that helped me through it all. She was a loving mentor."

Today's Devotion – Wisdom from Spiritual Leaders

Samuel had been a prophet of God for years. He had faithfully served the nation of Israel for decades.

His hair was gray and his eyes were tired when the people of Israel brought a new request before him.

They wanted a king, just like the surrounding nations had. Samuel is distressed about this and prays to the Lord.

And the Lord told him: “Listen to all that the people are saying to you; it is not you they have rejected, but they have rejected me as their king.”
(1 Samuel 8:7)

Samuel goes on to warn Israel about what will happen to them when they have a king. They ignore him until he calls down rain and thunder from Heaven.

Finally, they admit their wrong but they do nothing to fix it. They still pick a king and allow him to reign.

Often, mature spiritual leaders have deep wisdom that they're willing to share.

Don't be like the nation of Israel and reject their advice. Instead, pray over it and see if God confirms what they have told you.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Guarding Your Tongue

David was safely in a stronghold, looking toward Bethlehem, where the Philistines had set up camp.

Then he remarked about the sweet, pure water that came from the well in Bethlehem.

Upon hearing this, David's elite warriors immediately set out on a journey. They travel through enemy areas just to bring a flask filled with water from Bethlehem.

When they present it to him, David refuses to drink the water.

"God forbid that I should do this!" he said. "Should I drink the blood of these men who went at the risk of their lives?"

Because they risked their lives to bring it back, David would not drink it. (1 Chronicles 11:19)

It's easy to underestimate the impact of your words. A simple remark, a word muttered under your breath, can influence those around you even if you don't realize it.

Part of being a Christ follower is learning to guard your tongue and speak words of truth and grace. If you mess up, like David did, be quick to own up to it and ask for forgiveness from God.

And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. —Colossians 3:17

Today's Devotion – Bearing Fruit

Rebekah lived in a small farming town in the Midwest. To attend college, she had to drive almost two hours one way. The commute was hard but Rebekah's mother had arthritis and sometimes needed help at home.

One day as Rebekah was coming from college, she missed the exit on the interstate. At first, she didn't realize there was a problem so she continued on. She finally pulled over when none of the signs were familiar anymore.

She glanced at her GPS device but the cloud coverage was making it difficult for her to get a signal. So Rebekah grabbed her smart phone and called her grandfather instead.

The elderly man had been a delivery man for five decades and he knew the surrounding areas well. So when Rebekah asked for directions, he was able to quickly get her on the right path home.

For Rebekah, the experience was eye-opening. "It was the first time I realized how valuable it is to have a relationship with someone older than me. My grandfather was able to guide me because of his years of experience."

Is there someone in your life that you could guide? Just because you're aging doesn't mean you're no longer useful. There are many ways that you can bless younger generations!
